MARKET REVIEW & OUTLOOK

The Nigerian equities market sustained its upward trajectory in June, with the NGX All-Share Index (ASI) advancing by 737 basis points month-on-month to close at 119,978.57 points, bringing the year-to-date return to 16.57%.

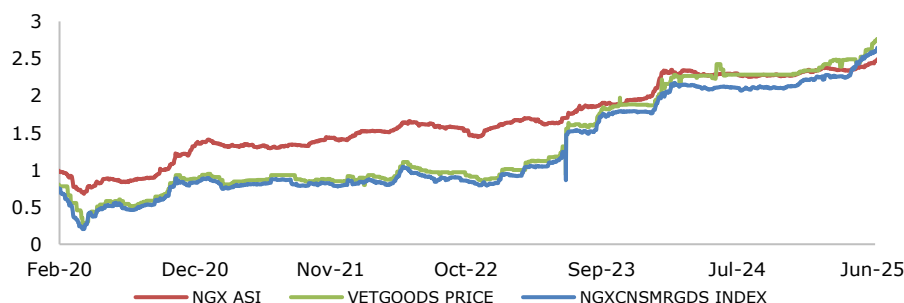

The Consumer Goods Index extended its lead as the top-performing sector at the close of Q2, posting a 10.75% month-to-date gain in June. The sector's rally was broad-based, with notable contributions from International Breweries (+43.30%), Dangote Sugar (+25.76%), and PZ (+28.81%), among others. Additionally, large-cap stock BUAFOODS recorded a moderate advance of 4.32%, further supporting the sector's overall performance.

Although the strong momentum observed in June may taper, the Consumer Goods sector is expected to exhibit relative resilience in July, underpinned by anticipated Q2 earnings releases and sustained investor interest in defensives. While further upside may be more measured, some profit-taking is expected as investors reassess valuations following the recent rally. Notably, the sector's year-to-date return of 52.21% continues to outperform the broader market.
