FUND DESCRIPTION

The Vetiva Griffin 30 ETF "VG 30 ETF" is an open-ended Exchange Traded Fund managed by Vetiva Fund Managers Limited. The VG 30 ETF is designed to track the performance of the constituent companies of the NGX 30 Index and to replicate the price and yield performance of the Index.

INDEX DESCRIPTION

The NGX 30 Index comprises of the top 30 companies listed on the Nigerian Exchange Group ("NGX") in terms of market capitalization and liquidity and is a price index weighted by adjusted market capitalization.

MARKET SUMMARY

The equities market was volatile in the month of June as broad-based losses led to a 2.21% and 2.23% decline of the NGX ALSI and NGX 30 Index respectively. Following the decision by the MPC to raise the benchmark MPR by 150bps to 13.00% at the end of May and the attendant higher rates seen in the fixed income market, bearish trading sessions became the norm in the equities space and in June this worsened with investors seeking safety in the Fixed Income Market.

The Banking and Consumer Goods sectors saw significant losses in June, as key counters across the respective sectors fell sharply m/m. Oil & Gas losses were minimal, which could be attributed to the positive sentiment stemming from higher global crude prices. Conversely, in the Industrial Goods sector, WAPCO's 2.40% m/m decline weighed the sector's overall performance whilst Airtel's negative price movement weighed down the Telecoms performance.

In July, we expect investors to wait on the sidelines in anticipation of H1'22 financial results. We anticipate some cherry-picking over the course of the month as H1'22 financials come out. Additionally, interim dividend expectations from investors will likely drive some positive trading sessions. However, with major central bankers having embarked on a fight against inflation, the July MPR decision by the MPC could impact the equities space
