MARKET SUMMARY

Spurred by positive sentiment following the inauguration of the new administration, the equity market witnessed a strong performance in June 2023 following notable broad-based appreciation in prices of listed securities across most key sectors. As such, the All-Share Index recorded a sharp rise, closing higher at 9.32% m/m, bringing its year-to-date performance to 18.96%.

This positive performance trickled down to the NGX 30 index closing at 8.92% m/m, bringing its year-to-date performance to 19.47%. In terms of individual companies, AIRTELAFRI, MTNN and BUAFOODS contributed the most, gaining 12.33%, 8.92% and 4.50% m/m respectively.

With investor sentiment and decisions highly influenced by economic and political drivers, we believe market participants will continue to monitor the unfolding of policy announcements by the new government and foresee implementation of market-friendly measures and economic reforms keeping the Nigerian equity market on a positive trajectory.

Overall, the outlook for the second half of the year is cautiously optimistic, supported by the expectation of a renewed commitment to bolstering the economy and attracting investments.
